The story

ImseVimse's story started 30 years ago when founder and owner Marie Walleberg, in a desperate search for a cure for her daughter's diaper rash, found the soothing magic of cloth diapering. And just like that, her daughter's painful rash disappeared. Marie then realized she had a new problem. At the time, cloth diapers were difficult to find. Wanting to responsibly give her daughter the best care possible, Marie founded a diaper company that would fill that void and meet the need of her own and others looking for a healthy and environmentally friendly care for their babies. As ImseVimse's founder, Marie spent the next three decades perfecting and constantly expanding the range of reusable textile products to help us minimize the environmental impacts of our daily life. Today you will find many more products in ImseVimse's product range. Honest and ethical, the soul of the company remains the same; to create good products that matter and to make a difference in the world. You're not only buying a product, you are helping us save the planet one reusable diaper at a time.

Thank you for being a part of the history of ImseVimse.

Love,
ImseVimse Team
